

Waggoner native releases debut Worship Album "All I Need"

Amy (Matthews) Lloyd, a Christian singer and recording artist based near Washington, DC, announced today the release of her debut worship album "All I Need," a collection of modern and traditional hymns and praise songs that turns the heart's attention to the soul's greatest need.

The album has a folk-inspired, acoustic sound that weaves together themes of God's grace and love. From popular lyrics in the opening track, "Grace Flows Down," to the profound songwriting of "Holy Spirit," to the familiar words of "Enough," Amy's pure vocals will engage listeners and command their attention throughout.

"The songs on this album continue to have a deep impact on me and my relationship with the Lord," said Amy. "Whether someone is rejoicing or suffering, I pray listeners will find that the words and music draw them closer to the Savior.

"The album's name, 'All I Need,' comes from the first song I selected, 'My Redeemer's Love.' In the chorus of the song, it is written, 'Your love is all I need.' As I meditated on those lyrics, I reaffirmed to God that He supplies all my needs through His merciful grace and love. The theme of this album was born from those words."

"Amy Lloyd is a godly, talented woman who has chosen to use her voice to glorify God," said Les Lofquist, IFCA International Executive Director, whose organization includes nearly 2000 churches and pastors in the USA and many more around the world. "All I Need' will be a blessing to all those who listen, whether they are celebrating or sorrowful."

"I've been on three missions trips with Amy and each time her singing has been purposeful, worshipful and God-centered," said David Genn, international church and ministry consultant. "All I Need' will truly bless all those who listen with its warm melody and relevant theology."

Amy's musical influences include modern hymn writers Keith and Kristyn Getty as well as the sounds and songwriters of Sovereign Grace Music. "All I Need" also includes two original songs penned by friend and pastor, Mike Foster, of Ridgewood Bible Church in Lockport, NY.

As for origins of the album, Amy says she spent a month journaling a list of songs to possibly present as a concert. "God had other plans. When my voice teacher tossed out the idea of recording an album, I knew what that list was for; the album tracks had already been chosen."

List of tracks: Grace Flows Down, My Redeemer's Love, Me For You, Before the Throne of God Above, Holy Spirit, O the Deep, Deep Love of Jesus, Here is Your God (No One Else), Enough, Rescue, When Trials Come, Bonus: Fullness of Grace.

For several years Amy and her husband, Matt, have been involved in missions work in Russia. Since November is National Adoption Awareness Month, Amy will be giving a portion of the sales of the album through December 31st to Doorways to Hope. Doorways to Hope's mission is to help orphans find loving, Christian families in their home countries. Currently, their focus is in Russia and the Ukraine. In Russia, there are estimated to be more than 730,000 orphans. In 2012, donors helped Doorways to Hope place 512 orphans in families in their home countries. Doorways to Hope has become increasingly important as Americans are barred from adopting Russian orphans.
